(As of ~~May 20, 2021~~[insert new date])

April 2022

The public power promise holds representative governance as one of its foundational principles. This link to our customer-owners – through our elected board of directors – is key to Omaha Public Power District’s operations.

OPPD is leaning forward into the future and all it offers for our customers. In pursuit of OPPD’s vision and mission, our governance structure will inform all of the decisions we make that will impact our operations and service for decades to come.

The utility industry continues to undergo swift transformation, impacted by changing technology, more frequent extreme weather events and evolving customer expectations, among other factors. OPPD remains fully committed to effective governance practices that will be especially critical during this time.

Since 2015, OPPD’s Corporate Governance Initiative has provided the board and OPPD executive leadership an opportunity to discuss the wishes of our customer-owners, and to confirm strategic performance targets, board governance principles, accountabilities and levels of empowerment through which the organization can achieve these desired results.

OPPD’s board policies consist of three categories, all of which are designed to help optimize decision-making across the utility as well as clarity around the following:

Category	Focus
Governance Process	Principles for how the Board will govern itself.
Board-Staff Linkage	Delegations from the Board to the CEO to carry out the work of OPPD.
Strategic Direction	Performance for which the Board will hold OPPD accountable on behalf of its customer-owners.

This system of policy governance has delivered positive results in the years since it was implemented, including the following:

- A smooth transition and onboarding of newly elected board members
- Trust and cohesion with clarity for management as they carry out the work related to strategic direction policies and initiatives
- Clarity of strategic direction to guide resource prioritization and decisions to serve our more than 350,000 customer-owners, especially in areas of reliability, rate management and innovation for the future.

As part of OPPD’s commitment to transparency, board policies are available to review online, and engaging with the public will remain a priority around any changes to such policies. This oversight provides an opportunity for the board and executive leadership to clarify policy, revise it when necessary and ultimately deliver desired results for OPPD’s customer-owners.

- Standing committees shall be reviewed at least annually by the Board to determine whether they should continue.
- This policy applies to any group which is formed by Board action, whether or not it is called a Committee and regardless whether the group includes Board members. It does not apply to committees formed under the authority of the CEO.
